Dear Lorne,

I am so glad the Scandinavian Journal of Haematology have accepted your paper. It may well appear before my own review, in which case I shall be able to comment on it in some detail. If possible I should very much like to see the revised version.

I am glad to hear all is well in Winnipeg, and your work on the new class of histamine receptors sounds exciting. I shall look out for the paper in Cancer Research. We are all well on the Unit and lots of interesting work is going on. Pat and I are beginning to plan for our move to Norfolk towards the end of the year when I retire. We have not quite decided whether to extend our current house there or whether to buy another one. I have mixed feelings about retirement, but no illusions. I forget things so rapidly now, and have difficulty in grasping new concepts because I have had no practical experience in molecular biology techniques. Time to go.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,
